Unsuitable friends & teenagers addiction

Jahantab Mohammad

Abstract
Several researches have been done about reasons of addiction and researchers have presented several factors related to addiction. The objective of this study is to identify the effect of unsuitable friends on teenagers addiction. The objective of this study is applied and the method is descriptive. Adolescence is a period that is full of conflicts. Identification, decration the relationship between teenagers and their family, increasing their relationship with their friends and pattern recognition are the features of adolescence. An unsuitable friend can easily deceive her/his friends. The most effective factors in teenagers addiction are social, economic, political, mental and natural factors. Unsuitable friends is one of the main factors of teenagers addiction.

Key words: coevals, friend, unsuitable friend, teenager, addiction

1. Assistant Professor, Amin Police University E-mail: Mohamadjahantab95@gmail.com.